Native American Heritage Month

This month we would like to honor the Indigenous people that inhabit North America. It is estimated that in 1492 there were somewhere around 600 individual native civilizations in what would become the US. Historians believe there to be significantly more in the past with Pre-Columbian estimates near 1,000.

Did you know...?

November's full moon is known as the Beaver Moon! In Colonial times this moon meant it was time to set beaver traps before frost set in, and the Beavers retired to their dens!
