PRE-K

Classroom Spotlight

magnets

As you know, we love science experiments! The Pre-K class will perform experiments with clouds, static electricity, and magnets which will provide us with “real-life” opportunities to use the Scientific Method (forming & testing hypotheses and then analyzing and applying results); but they are also SO MUCH FUN. Our January character emphasis is on the value of cooperation, and we will be talking about (among other things) how much we can accomplish when we work together. These two components—Science and Character—of our overall curriculum are good illustrations of an idea best expressed by Dr. King:

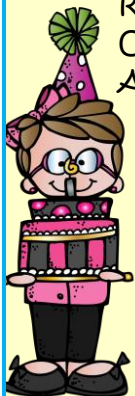

*The function of education is to teach one to think intensively and to think critically.
Intelligence plus character - that is the goal of true education*

JANUARY CLASSROOM SPOTLIGHT

Pre-K

This past month the Busy Bees in our Pre-K classroom engaged in various discussions about the many holidays that happen throughout the month of December: Hanukah, Christmas & Kwanza. We grasped an insight into cultures and customs through reading books, taking virtual tours on the technology screen and imaginary play. Students also practiced patience with in-class activities and transitions because we know during the holiday seasons, children are very excited. In conjunction to class curriculum, we completed many arts & crafts and science experiments to explore the 5 senses.

We most enjoyed "Sipping Hot Cocoa" on a cool day," Wrapping gifts for our mommies and daddies for Christmas, making holiday slime, and closed out our month with a Holiday Extravaganza!

We shine bright & welcome in 2018 for more fun and learning.
